

Author Guidelines

Wicazo Sa Review

Editor: Lloyd L. Lee

Book Review Editor: Madeline Rose Mendoza

Submissions

Submissions must be the author's original work, not have been published previously, and must not be under consideration elsewhere. In your email, please confirm in a statement.

The manuscript should be between 6,000 – 9,000 words (including End Notes), double-spaced, 12-point font, and follow the Chicago Manual of Style 17th edition. The text should be in Microsoft Word.

Authors' name(s) should not appear on manuscript; instead, please include a separate document with the author's name, email, mailing address, and the title of the article. Authors should not refer to themselves in the first person in the submitted text or notes.

Submissions should include anonymized essay, abstract (200 words), short bio, and a separate document containing author's name, institutional affiliation, and contact information (both email and mailing address)

Digital images may be submitted in the following commonly used file format: TIFF and JPEG. In the final submission, digital photographs may not be embedded in a Word document. They should be sent separately as individual files to facilitate production. Original submissions being sent out for review can include embedded photos or figures. Digital images must be at least 5 inches wide at 300 ppi resolution.

Checklist of Documents required for submission:

Abstract (200 words)

Manuscript (6,000 – 9,000 words)

Images/figures

Captions for Images/figures

Author bio (100 words)

Queries and submissions should be sent to: triplel@unm.edu

Author Fees

Wicazo Sa Review does not require author fees for publishing materials in the journal for non-Open Access submissions. Queries about Open Access Article Processing Charges (APCs) should be directed to the editorial team at: triplel@unm.edu

Copyright and Licensing

Wicazo Sa Review authors grant to the University of Minnesota the exclusive right to reproduce their essay and distribute it by all means and media now known or hereafter discovered. They also grant to the University the exclusive right to license others to reproduce all or part of their essay and distribute it by all means and media now known or hereafter discovered. The rights authors grant include, but are not limited to: original publication throughout the world in all languages; anthology; serial; digest; abridgment; condensation; adaptation; translation; dramatizations; photocopying; microfilm; reprint editions by other publishers; electronic media versions; display and transmission publicly or otherwise on-line, or through other electronic or digital means of transmission, and the right to copyright in the name of Native American Studies, University of New Mexico.

University of Minnesota Press Policy on Institutional Repositories

A pre-print is the un-refereed version of an article. We ask authors to acknowledge its future publication and identify the journal, the year of publication, and the publisher. Please indicate that the article is a "working paper."

A post-print is the peer-reviewed version (but not the final published version) of the article. Twelve (12) months after publication, authors may mount post-prints of their articles on their own web sites and/or institutional repositories on not-for-profit servers. Authors may not use the publisher-generated PDF. For post-prints, please include the following credit line: This article was published as [complete bibliographic citation as it appears in the print journal]. No part of this article may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, transmitted, or distributed, in any form, by any means, electronic, mechanical, photographic, or otherwise, without the prior permission of the University of Minnesota Press.