

GREAT NECK Judge Mahoney Assails SCOTTIE WINS LaGuardia's Fiscal Policies SHOW AWARD

759 Entries Recorded by Westbury Kennel Association

WESTBURY—Cedar Pond Castaway, a year-and-a-half-old Scottish terrier, shown by his owner, John Goudie of Great Neck, took honors at the 15th annual show of the Westbury Kennel Association held on the polo field of Mrs. J. S. Phipps here yesterday.

Goudie is on the Board of Governors of the Association. His prize-winning dog also took first honors in the terrier class, and was a recent winner at the Baltimore show.

The outdoor exhibition, which attracted a large crowd, went on throughout the day. The judging started at 10 A. M. and was not completed until nearly 6 P. M. There were 759 entries.

With more than 100 cocker spaniels on the benches, the Cocker Spaniel Club of Long Island held its specialty show in connection with yesterday's exhibition. First place went to the black cocker, Barnacle Bill II, owned by James Mills of Atlantic Beach.

Many of the winners were shown by exhibitors from out of the state, although a number were Queens and Nassau residents.

Among the Long Island winners were the Windholme Kennels of Islip, whose Pointer, Windholme Sensation took first in that class, and their Windholme Stencil of Meander, first in the whippet class, and finally their same Windholme Sensation which scored again by winning the sporting dog classification.

G. F. Egger of 47-11 93rd street, Elmhurst, took first place in the German short-haired pointers with his Holdfast Trefl.

Robert Charles of 140-31 159th street, Jamaica, captured the Borzoi division with his Count Dacula.

The Balmaine Kennels of Kania, Westbury, took first in the Norwegian Elkhounds with Niels.

Walter Roessler of Kings Point, Great Neck, won first in the Irish water spaniels class with his Step, and also his Shinnecock Belle won top honors in the famous Chesapeake Bay retriever class.

Mrs. George P. Beltz of 160-10 45th avenue, Flushing, with her Nina Mariposa won first in the Chihuahua class.

Mrs. D. K. Jay of Westbury, was the winner in the Pugs division. Her entry was Sags Pippin.

The Snug Harbor Kennels of 75 Homan boulevard, Hempstead, were the winners in the bull terriers with their entry, Tything Tibit of Snug Harbor.

Mrs. James M. Austin of Catawba Farm, Old Westbury, with her Brussels Griffon, was first in the Brussels class.

The Brookmade Kennels of Locust Valley came out first in the standard schnauzers with their Normack Nobbler.

The Gladmore Kennels of 33-38 Parsons boulevard, Flushing, won first in the Doberman pinschers with their Glove. Reyno. They also took third place in the Novice class of the Obedience Test with the same dog, and fourth in the working-day class.

Mrs. F. Gordon Brown of the Willow Bank Kennels of Glen Head took first in the golden retrievers with her Reddie.

To represent the sporting group in the final judging, E. E. Elder, chose the pointer, Windholme Sensation, owned by the Windholme Kennels of Islip of Harry T. Peters Jr. Second went to the cocker spaniel, Barnacle Bill II.

T. H. Caruthers III, of Glendale, Ohio, was the judge for the final event of the show, the best dog on exhibition. His choice of pointer, Cedar Pond Castaway, was popular with the crowd.

JUDGE MAHONEY Assails LaGuardia's Fiscal Policies

Democratic Candidate Attacks as Mayor Studies Budget

Former Judge Jeremiah T. Mahoney, Democratic candidate for mayor, today attacked Mayor LaGuardia's fiscal policies as the mayor announced his intentions of going into a week's retreat for the purpose of studying the 1938 city budget.

"While Mayor LaGuardia is in retreat, he should keep in mind his promise in the 1933 campaign to reduce the budget $50,000,000 a year," Mahoney said. "He has increased the budget over $40,000,000 a year over what it was in 1933."

"This has been the result of innumerable 'retreat' the mayor has gone to consider the wastefulness of the budget. I predict that when the Mayor has completed his retreat, we will find the budget of 1937 has been increased to a new high for 1938."

"Is the Mayor in his retreat, going to give any consideration to the question of water rates? This is the tax that hits the little home-owner. Of course the little home-owner isn't very important numerically, so he doesn't get much consideration," Mahoney said.

Mahoney said thousands of complaints have been received at the mayor's office regarding water rates. He charged that funds recovered by the increased rates which were supposed to have been used for "relief" have been diverted to the use of other departments.

JAPS MOVE ON SHANGHAI, BOMB CANTON

that the Japanese planes blew up a sulphuric acid plant at Nanking.

The bombardment of the North Railroad Station here caused panic. Bombs used were the largest ever dropped in the Shanghai area.

At the "Eternal Peace" Bridge, midway between Lihuang and Yangchang, Chinese troops stormed and captured the bridge. This attack was ordered by General Chu Shaojiang, new Chinese commander-in-chief.

Japanese counter-attacks and the bridge was taken and retaken in hand-to-hand fighting.

General Chu told the United Press that he believed as many as 40,000 Japanese reinforcements had landed in the Shanghai area within the last week.

MOSCOW WARNS TOKYO ON EMBASSY BOMBING

MOSCOW (UP).—Russia has warned Japan that she will be held responsible for any damage to the Russian embassy at Nanking by Japanese airplanes, whether the damage is done deliberately or not, it was announced today.

The government disclosed that the warning was given to the Japanese consul general at Shanghai Saturday by the Russian consul general.

Japan had advised Russia that Chinese were suspected of painting their airplanes to resemble Japanese planes, in order to bomb the Russian embassy at Nanking.

In reply, the Russian consul general said that his government considered the Japanese allegation provocative and that Russia would hold the Japanese high command responsible for bombardment of the embassy whatever the circumstances.

NANKING DEAD PUT AT 500 IN TWO DAYS

NANKING (UP).—Japanese planes bombed Nanking three times today before lowering storm clouds brought hope of respite until tomorrow.

Unofficial but reliable sources estimated that 200 persons were killed, making the total dead in 48 hours 500. However, it was said officially that only 60 persons were wounded or killed. Many homes were destroyed.

Nine plane loads of bombs were dropped during the first raid on the American-owned Yungli Chemical Works, seven miles from the center of the city.

Railroad stations were particularly targets in all three raids.

Two false air alarms terrorized helpless women and children yesterday, one in the dark hours of the morning, the other at 10:30 A. M. while gangs of laborers under Red Cross direction were burying the corpses of Saturday's victims.

Today's raids were not so severe as Saturday's but it was indicated that considerable damage was done, particularly about the railroad stations. Telephonic communication to Peking was interrupted.

People in weaker dugouts were killed by nothing more than concussion. A mere fragment of shrapnel cut through a three-inch steel rail.

A policeman who, like the others, insisted on remaining on duty as his steel helmet alone was recognizable. Such scenes as these had their effect.

Nevertheless the city's morale remained good. Both anger and determination to stick it out were noticeable.

A policeman who, like the others, insisted on remaining on duty as his steel helmet alone was recognizable. Such scenes as these had their effect.

DINNER OPENS HENRY STREET DRIVE TONIGHT

$25,000 Sought in Queens for Visiting Nurse Service Fund

The Queens section of the Henry Street Visiting Nurse Service fund raising campaign will be organized tonight at a dinner in the Pomonok Country Club, Flushing-Millier.

The drive will officially get under way Oct. 4.

Judge Charles S. Colden, Queens chairman of the drive, said that the borough will be asked to contribute $25,000 of the $200,000 citywide campaign quota.

This amount is needed to insure continuance of the organization's policy of "never refusing a call," the judge declared.

"With its 1,200,000 population," Judge Colden said, Queens will probably show a steady increase in its future use of the services available through the Visiting Nurse Service.

"The principal work of these nurses is the care of the sick in their homes; and their record in Queens for the last year includes 32,115 visits to the homes of 9,325 patients."

Quote, Governor "Governor Lehman, who has been closely connected with the Henry Street Visiting Nurse Service for many years, both as a worker in its behalf and as a member of the board of directors, has said:

"No organization with which I am familiar does better or more important work."

"Those of us who are in close touch with the branch centers in Astoria, Jamaica, and Flushing, can testify to the fact that Governor Lehman's high praise certainly applies to the work being done in Queens."

"Public health authorities estimate that approximately 2 percent of the population is ill at any one time. This means that Queens at this time has 25,000 people who are sick."

"Recent studies show that 80 percent of the sick remain in their own homes. These figures will give some idea of the burden carried by the Visiting Nurse Service."

Work Overtime "The demands on the nurses have been exceedingly heavy during recent years. Many of them stay on duty regularly, and their own obligations on their own volition. Although each nurse is expected to make eight visits daily, most of them average nine or ten visits."

"Sometimes a casual request for a nurse turns out to be a call for a nurse to attend the death of a patient. It is a fact that they cannot afford to take chances by hesitating to go on any call, no matter how great the strain on them."

Judge Colden released a list of prominent people who have been invited to attend the dinner Saturday night. Among them are Mayor LaGuardia, Borough President Harvey, Alderman President Brunner, Henry Bruere, John M. Schiff, Mrs. Joseph L. Liffenthal, Katherine Faville, Dr. Carl Boettiger, Mgr. James J. Clark, City Court Justice Charles W. Frossell, Supreme Court Justice Thomas C. Kadien, Dr. Paul Klappert, George J. Ryan, Supreme Court Justice Henry G. Wenzel and E. S. Macdonald.

5 TIPS ON HOW TO AVOID FIRES

In connection with the observance of Fire Prevention Week, George W. Flynn, chairman of the insurance committee of the Queensboro Chamber of Commerce, today gave five tips of fire prevention to home owners, stating that most of the yearly property damage caused by fires could be averted through simple precautions.

His suggestions follow:

1—Have chimneys and flues cleaned and repaired before starting winter fires.

2—Do not use gasoline or kerosene to start fires.

3—Have all electric wiring carefully installed and inspected before use.

4—See that lighted matches, cigars and cigarettes are thrown into fireproof receptacles after use.

5—Learn to operate a fire alarm box so that fire may be reported as quickly as possible.

Mrs. Edward Goehring of Woodhaven was given a shower yesterday by Mrs. Thomas Dunne at her home, 80-15 62nd street, Glendale.

MINEOLA Fair Opens Today; 100,000 Expected to Attend

Boy Scouts, Students Take Over Exposition for First Day

MINEOLA — Turnstiles will click at the Mineola Fairgrounds today and from then on for six days and nights, more than 100,000 children and adults will prove by their attendance that the county fair is one of America's institutions least likely to succumb to age.

The opening inaugurates the 95th annual season of the fair, which has cemented the ties between Greater New York and its suburban neighbor, Long Island, ever since the first exposition in 1842 at Hempstead.

Boy Scouts and school children will literally "take over" the fair on the opening day. They will be admitted free and schools in all parts of the county are giving up afternoon sessions so their students can attend.

From the opening day on, the fair will present a picture of everyday America—a composite of fun, sport and labor, the ideal which the Queens-Nassau Agricultural Society, sponsors of the fair, each year sets as its standard.

For the first time in the history of the fair, officials have arranged to have the exhibition buildings remain open until 10 o'clock every night, with the exception of Saturday, when a wild west show and rodeo will bring the fair to a close.

Nassau's Boy Scouts will begin their activities at 3 P. M. with a parade and pageant on the race track. The Scouts will maintain their own exhibit of Scouting craft at the fair throughout the week.

The Hall of Education will house an exhibit of Nassau school work, under the supervision of J. W. Chisholm, district superintendent. In the building will be art, dramatics, industrial and domestic displays.

Today at the Education Building there will be a model airplane contest, expected to draw hundreds of entrants. On the other days of the week, delegations from various grade and high schools will be present to present plays and give actual demonstrations of school work.

The professional flower and vegetable show will be housed in the same building, while the amateur flower show will have a separate tent.

Many of the buildings will be devoted to the usual exhibit of thoroughbred cattle, sheep and swine, exhibited by many of the most famous estates on Long Island.

Mrs. Janet Drumm of Malverne, superintendent of the Art Division, expects one of the greatest displays in the history of the fair, with a special division set aside for photography.

N. Andrews of Mineola will be in charge of the poultry show, which for years has one record.

JUDGES MAY BE NAMED ON COURT SLATE

The Republican delegates were scheduled to convene at 1 P. M. today in the Appellate Term Court Room, Brooklyn, Supreme Court Building, Joralemon street, while the Democratic delegates were slated for the session at Brooklyn Democratic Headquarters, Court Square, 8 P. M.

At the Republican session it was anticipated that Kings County Leader John R. Crews would attempt to secure two of the three available Supreme Court nominations in the 2nd Judicial District for his own county.

Queens was seen as the target of the move. However, Leader Ashmead, Nassau Leader J. Russell Sprague and Suffolk Leader W. Kingsland Macy were seen in a similar alliance against such a maneuver. The three suburban leaders controlling about half the delegates also counted on a third of the Brooklyn delegates to support their stand.

Crews was said to seek designation of a Brooklyn Republican and a Brooklyn Socialist or Laborite. The latter nomination was reportedly sought by the Kings County chieftain to secure support of the Socialist-Labor vote.

The Democrats, it was said, would set up their own slate without seeking the endorsement of the American Labor party.

Frossell Seen Acceptable In the Democratic ranks the nomination of Frossell was seen as acceptable to both sides. Frossell, successful Sheridan candidate for renomination in the past primary, is a protégé of Supreme Court Justice Frank A. Adel, who is highly regarded by the Unity forces. Frossell's elevation would leave a vacancy which could be filled by a Unity man such as County Clerk Thomas J. Towers or Assistant District Attorney Harry I. Huber.

Such negotiation would pave the way for union of the two Democratic factions before the general election.

Both parties will nominate three candidates in the 2nd Judicial District. Besides the vacancy occurring with the retirement of Faber, being occupied by the late Justice James C. Gray of Brooklyn and Paul Bonynge of Nassau, must be filled.

Under ordinary circumstances the posts would go to Kings, Queens and Nassau.

SUBWAY TIED UP

Hundreds of Jamaica-bound workers were late to work today because Philip Aronson, 52 of the Bronx jumped or fell in front of a subway train at 23rd street and 8th avenue, Manhattan. Service was stalled 17 minutes while an emergency crew jacked up a car and extricated him. Aronson was critically injured.

FALL SESSION OF CONGRESS SEEN LIKELY

F. D., Speeding West, Believed Resolved to Press for New Deal Measures

ROOSEVELT SPECIAL in Idaho (UP)—President Roosevelt moved westward across Idaho today with a substantial part of his next Congressional program formulated and with a special session this autumn still possible, or even likely.

Ahead lay eight days of travel looping through the Pacific northwest and back through Montana, North Dakota and Minnesota to Chicago, where Roosevelt will dedicate a link in the city's new outercity.

The President has not revealed his intentions with respect to a special session, but an early call to Congress was believed likely with the legislators adjourned August 21 after junking some of the New Deal program and postponing other phases of it. Then came charges that Associate Justice Hugo I. Black is a life member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Some observers believed that Mr. Roosevelt would be reluctant to summon Congress now owing to the certainty of severe and organized criticism of his first choice for the Supreme Court. If not an active movement to remove the new jurist from the bench.

Next Sunday the President will pass through Montana, home of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, a leader with Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming of the Democratic insurgents. Whether Wheeler will be in the state, and if so whether he will be received aboard, is one of the political questions to be arranged within a week. The Senator has been speaking in criticism of the New Deal.

The Presidential party will reach Boise, Idaho, at 9:30 A. M., MST, for a drive to Capitol Park and a brief address.

Reason for the Trip Six days out of Hyde Park today, the President's appearance for this hurried transcontinental journey had not been revealed. The official announcement was that Roosevelt was going to Seattle to see his daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger, her two children, "Sistie" and "Buzzie," by a first marriage, and her present husband, who is publisher of William Randolph Hearst's Seattle Post-Intelligencer, but the Boettigers joined the party Saturday when Mr. Roosevelt entered Yellowstone Park.

To train side crowds in some of a dozen platform appearances so far Roosevelt has had on an inspection trip to familiarize himself with the country, a duty he said every President owed the people. In fact, the President is studying the attitude of the northwestern business who is publisher of William Randolph Hearst's Seattle Post-Intelligencer, but the Boettigers joined the party Saturday when Mr. Roosevelt entered Yellowstone Park.

FRIDAY—The Hempstead Town Board of Health will be in charge of a special program.

Girls of 4-H clubs will display dresses, hats, beach suits, towels, etc. They will have a foods exhibit, as well as a canning exhibit.

Vegetables from over 600 4-H club members' gardens will be on display, and they will have their own garden and flower show.

Officials in announcing the imposing list of events for their 95th annual exposition, recalled the humble beginnings of the fair, who in 1847 the first meeting was called for the formation of the Queens Agricultural Society. Its object was to "improve the method of farming, the raising of stock, and rural economy."

Started in 1819 Although the society was organized in 1819, it later disbanded because of lack of interest, and it was not until 1847 that the present Agricultural Society was formed, being then known as the Queens Agricultural Society, as Nassau was part of Queens County.

The first fair was held in October, 1842, in a tent in the rear of the yard of the Anderson Hotel in Hempstead. For several years the fair was held in various places, Jamaica, Flushing or Hempstead being the chosen towns.

Finally in 1866 the Town of Hempstead set aside 40 acres for the annual use of the fair, and the first building was constructed there. From then on the fair increased in size, with horseracing being added, and the Ladies Festival Association formed to aid in culinary and needlework exhibits.

Only in 1918, during the World War, did activities at the fair cease. At that time the Government used the buildings as a hospitalization base for soldiers. In 1919, the fair reopened, and has continued ever since.

FISH FANCIERS EXHIBIT WARES

Tiny terrors of the fishbowl—cuppies with sword tails—were among exhibits by more than 1,500 tropical fish fanciers at the annual fall show of the Queens Aquarium Society, which closed Saturday night with awards of prizes in the Labor Temple, 41-32 58th street, Woodside.

Philip Miller of Corona was manager of the show. His assistants included F. Chadbourne, Astoria; H. A. Stephan, Laurel Hill; Mr. and Mrs. R. Cone, Astoria; John Clark, Peter Capelli, Woodside; Mrs. M. Nau and Mrs. E. Grant, Astoria.

Prize winners were: Silver Cups—Bruno Kerps, Brooklyn, best pair of fish; Bruno Kerps, Brooklyn, best baby display; Bronx County Aquarium Society, best community tank; Otto Roehl, best baby display; Bronx County Aquarium Society, best individual; fanfancers winning more than one—Mrs. M. Nau, thirteen; Mrs. E. Grant, seven; Mrs. M. Grant, nine; Duke Fisch, seven; F. Reichert and F. Nelson, five; Philip Miller, Miss M. Corbett, Mrs. C. Markert, Mrs. C. Chadbourne, E. Koffler, W. Arp and W. Derm. two.

THE QUESTION IS: DO SMOKERS APPRECIATE CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCO?

THE BEST ANSWER IS: CAMELS ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA!

It's good business to spend millions more for costlier tobaccos? Well, the fact that Camels are the largest-selling cigarette shows that men and women do find something choice—something different—in Camels. Camels are a marvellous blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCO—Turkish and Domestic.

FATHER TAKES SON TO JAIL IN LOVE TANGLE

Girl, 19, Objects as Tailor Wants to Bring Wife Back Home

A father led his son to a police station yesterday, "to have him punished if he's done anything wrong," and the son was arraigned in Felony Court today on a charge of transporting a 19-year-old girl into New York.

Joseph Odierna, 24, a tailor, of 11-50 31st avenue, Astoria, escorted by his father, Giovena, was booked at the Astoria Precinct, after several hours questioning by G-men and Assistant District Attorney William O'Hare.

His troubles started, according to the police, when he and his wife, Mary, separated on Aug. 1. She went to live in Coney Island and he made a vacation trip to Hammononton, N. J.

The officers said young Odierna came back from his jaunt with attractive Josephine Varallo, 13, with whom he set up in a boarding house at 21-04 30th avenue. They were happy.

But Mrs. Odierna, also young and attractive, took the woman's privilege and changed her mind. She came back, succeeded in winning back her husband, and he prepared to break up his temporary home and reestablish a permanent one.

He had reckoned, however, without Josephine. She said, "No," to his plans, gave a more emphatic negative when his wife joined in the pleading, and finally went to his father with her case.

Detective Edward Duane, to whom the case was assigned when the elder Odierna brought in his son, called the Federal men. They, however, withdrew from the case, on the grounds that there was no apparent violation of the Mann act.

Miss Varallo was taken to the Florence Crittenton Home in Manhattan and her parents were notified.
