PREFACE

My Prayer Experience

I would like to share with you how I have grown to love praying while holding the belief that my smallest to largest prayers are being answered. My prayer life has been a journey of learning how to grow deeper spiritual roots. Without spiritual roots, I spent most of my life in a routine of eating, sleeping, and working. My corporate training taught me to keep my priorities straight: their next project! I quickly learned to treat myself like a glorified robot. I told myself: don't cry, don't feel, and don't be real. I learned to stuff my true feelings until I didn't know what I was feeling, all the while pretending to be happy! I was young and ambitious; I denied my hidden anger at how badly I neglected and treated myself. Eventually this ruthless behavior left me willing to sacrifice my time, energy, health, and finally spirit—my life. I had no clue as to what I was missing, even though I had the success that many of my friends envied and believed was of great importance: great titles, increasing salary, new cars, and material possessions. Eventually, as you will learn, I gave it all up in search of deeper meaning and a life filled with love.

Over the years, I've learned so much from watching nature. Imagine we are sitting on a riverbank overlooking a river, and we are noticing it flows in one direction. Imagine that our life training has taught us to go against the natural current—to go upstream, deny-self, suffer, try harder, act stronger, become exhausted, and pretend—and, over time, we feel more and more lifeless. We have lost our joy! In the meantime, the river of life is patiently waiting for us to seek nature's way, live our inherent passion, let life be easy, and attract our good to us.

I had never stopped to see my life from a higher, more meaningful perspective and really comprehend and be grateful for the Intelligence that sustains my life, keeps my heart beating, knows how to digest my food, and gives me the capability to speak and walk. This Source serves the mechanics of my body 24 hours a day without my even thinking about it. I'm sorry to say that many years had gone by before I thanked my organs for being my faithful servants in sustaining my body. I started to ask myself questions like: When was the last time I appreciated my little finger for all the ways it has served me? Some call this intelligence God, Creator, Higher Power, Divine Intelligence, or Source—it is not so much about using the right name, as it is the relationship and honor I have by embracing the amazing Creator God who breathes limitless breath and spirit into this sacred vessel called "my body."

I have come to realize that I can communicate with this Divine Infinite Intelligence because it's intimately involved in keeping me alive. Knowing this fact as my truth, I invite you into the journey of how I learned to believe in answered prayers.

I offer my prayers to the relationship I have with Jesus, I have a personal conversation with Him, who happens to be my Master teacher. (Create your prayers to the God of your understanding.) I honor and respect Jesus as the ultimate Wise One. I share my heart desires with Him and know that I will receive the answers I seek—or that something even greater will surprise me. Divine timing is always in order. Sometimes He has better ideas and prolongs providing an answer; sometimes I get instant results. I trust Jesus with my request with all of my heart. While I have had years to experience the incredible power of prayer, in the beginning I had to go on faith alone that the possibility of my prayers being answered was real!

Some of us at some point in our lives have asked: Where is God in my time of deepest need? Or Why do bad things happen to good people?

Many of you have read my books about my holistic healing story—I had a disease for six to seven years that numerous medical doctors said was incurable. My face turned bright fire engine red and was in the process of becoming deformed. I no longer could read or drive, and at age 42 it might have looked as if my life was over. (Before and After pictures on my web site) At the time, I really didn't see how I could ever live to tell my story, but I had this still small voice inside of my head that refused to believe all I was lacking was pharmaceutical medication. I also believed that the Creator who created me knew how to repair me. At the time, my question was: What is my body lacking and what can I do to support my self-healing process?

I was fortunate enough that for years I had been hired to work in the corporate world because of my "gift of intuitive knowing." Being able to solve complex corporate issues gave me the skills I needed to realize fundamental truths, and natural ways to solve business and personal challenges. Nothing in my corporate background was labeled "incurable," so I knew in my heart that my body couldn't be as complicated as the medical world tried to convince me it was. Faced with the biggest challenge of my life, I made it my intention for the next six to seven years to prove by faith the idea that "nothing is impossible with God." I believed I would be completely healed!

My story has a happy ending. In the seventh year, my faith led me to find the keys to holistic healing. During that year, my face healed, my vision returned, and my heart filled with joy and tremendous gratitude. I realized that my faith, coupled with the knowledge I had gained during my corporate career, helped me fight for self-healing no matter what the cost! I stood up against all odds and trusted that God had the answers—engraved in my understanding was the belief that the immune system does inherently heal and repair. This is an experience I will always cherish and trust. What I learned about finding natural solutions became my "gift" in teaching others how to experience self-healing for themselves. I now tell people that I am a student in God's University, always learning more about finding natural solutions—and that I'm enrolled for life. I know I will never graduate, because there is always more to learn.

I believe I have found an answer to my question: Why did God allow this suffering to happen in my life? My spiritual teacher asked me this pop-quiz question one day, "Would you go through this traumatic deforming, near blindness experience again if you knew it would help others around the world have encouragement and hope, and help them heal their lives?" Without hesitation I answered, "YES!"

Humbled by my miracle healing education, I have learned that I can interact with and develop a closer relationship with the invisible God source—the Intelligence that created me—and ask it to teach me the right path that matches Its will, Its love, and Its passion for my life? This Intelligence must be paying attention to me, to keep me alive. Is it possible to imagine a fulfilling life and have it be so? Said another way, can I align myself with this Intelligence that has natural principles for my body, mind, and spirit, in order to reap the rewards in my everyday life? I believe this is possible and I have proven it.

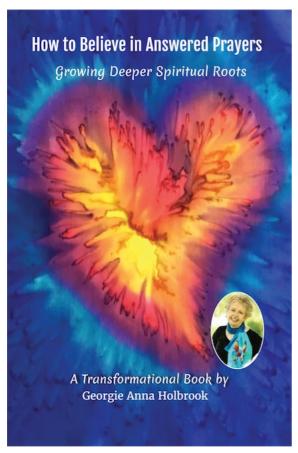

God isn't confused, but sometimes we are and we need guidance.

I encourage you to live a peace-filled life, give others your overflow of self-love, embrace yourself daily for being a blessing in this world, and practice the prayer examples in this book until you truly know How to Believe in Answered Prayers.

My before and after pictures of my face, along with pictures of my prayer box and altar - suggestions for yours are at the end of this book.

As a bonus, I share my personal story, including a bedside visit from Jesus while I was in the hospital. During His visit, I experienced a miraculous healing that baffled the doctors.

From my heart to yours, enjoy this book and be an angel helper by growing deeper spiritual roots and teaching others to do the same.
