

Care of Latex Rubber Garments

Latex Rubber is a natural product and when treated with care and respect Latex Rubber garments will have a long life

WASHING

Latex Rubber Garments should be washed in warm clean water with no soap or detergents. Carefully wipe off excess water with a soft towel and leave to dry flat. Lightly dust with talc before putting away.

DO NOT attempt to tumble dry and definitely DO NOT iron or dry clean rubber garments.

POLISHING

The natural gloss on Supatex Latex Rubber can be enhanced by light polishing using a silicone based polish but we particularly recommend using MICRO PVC/LATEX DRESSING which is available from the manufacturers Micro Chemical Products, 38 Swallow Drive, Milford on Sea, Lymington, Hants SO41 0XD Tel: 01590 641444

IMPORTANT FACTS

There are some important facts about Latex Rubber that the owner of Latex Garments should know about so that he or she can take care of and get maximum enjoyment from wearing Supatex Latex Rubber.

1. It is easier to put a tight latex garment on if the inside is first lightly dusted with talc and we advise wearing light cotton gloves to avoid possible marking and fingernail damage.

2. Oils, greases and solvents destroy rubber so do not use any oil based lubricants or creams.
3. The glossy surface of Supatex Latex Rubber can be permanently scratched if you attempt to polish it hard with a dry cloth so take care that your polishing cloth does not dry out when polishing.
4. Latex Rubber can discolour, and eventually perish, if exposed to heat, sunlight and light with a high u.v. content. We recommend that, when not being worn, latex garments should be kept, lightly talced, in a black plastic bag in a dry cupboard or drawer. Do not store in damp conditions and do not leave on or near heaters.
5. Keep away from naked flame and fires, latex rubber burns readily.
6. Latex Rubber permanently stains brown in contact with copper, brass or bronze. Light colours can even stain brown when handled after handling copper coins, so take care to keep away from your latex clothes.
