What it takes to Apply for a DL or ID Card

DRIVER LICENSE DIVISION

Creating a faster, easier, friendlier driver license experience and a safer Texas

The mission of the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) is to protect and serve Texas.

Driver licenses (DL) and identification cards (ID) issued by the DPS Driver License Division are key links to public safety, privacy, and national security. Many medical and financial institutions, retailers, governmental entities, and other various organizations accept a state issued DL or ID for purposes of confirming your identity so you have access to the services you need.

To reduce your exposure to identity theft and fraud, ensuring the validity of the information and documentation you provide for the issuance of your DL or ID is a very important part of the application process. With this in mind, DPS utilizes a nationally recognized DL and ID issuance process which involves verifying your identity, residency, and U.S. Citizenship or lawful presence (the legal authorization to reside in this country.)

To obtain your Texas DL or ID, you are required to apply in person at a Texas driver license office. You will find the information you need to know about Texas' DL/ID application process here in this brochure. All driver license office services require an appointment. Visit www.dps.texas.gov/DriverLicense/appointments.htm to review important information and schedule your appointment. If you are moving to Texas, needing more information on the issuance process, applying for a Commercial Driver License, or are under the age of 25, visit our website at www.dps.texas.gov/DriverLicense for additional requirements.
