THE PHARMACOPURIA.—An Extract from the Second Edition (page 188) of the Translation of the Pharmacoports of the Royal College of Physicians of London.

the Pharmacopous of the Royal College of Physicians of London.

By DR. G. F. COLLIER,
Published by Longman and Co.

"It is no small defect in this compilation (speaking of Title Pharmacopous), that we have no purgative mass but what contains aloes; yet we know that hemorrhoidal persons cannot bear aloes, except it be in the forms of COCKLE'S PILLS, which chiefly consist of aloes, scanmony, and colocyath, which i think are formed into a soct of compound extract, the artifulty of which is obviated, I suspect, by an abaline process, and by a fourth ingredient (unknown to me) of an arramatic tomic nature. I think no better and mo worse of it for its being a patent medicine. I look at its as an article of commerce and donestic convenience, and do not hesitate to say it is the best made pill in the higgion; a muscular purge, a nuccous purge, and a hydrogogue purge combined, and their effects properly controlled by a different and continue. That it does not commonly purge thereughly soluble, so that an undestributed particles achieve to the uncous membrane."

THE NEXT REST THING TO HEALTH.—Next to possessing good health we may fairly mak the means of acquiring it. This is not to be done by stimulating the organs into a false appetite or a momentary vigour. They who resort to such expedients will find that they eventually increase the evile they wish to remove. But it is to be effected by creating a new tone in the stomach, by purifying the blood, and sitering the secretions. Then, the first symptoms of returning health will be felt in a glowing elasticity of regions of the capture of the stomach, which is always one characteristic of a sound body. Make then the experiment; and as the best means of censuring success, try Cockle's Antibilious Pills.—BUNDAY TIMES.

DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

SYRUP OF HYPOPROSPHITE OF LIME,—
Grimanli and Co., chemista, Paris.—A syrup compounded with this new salt has been introduced by Dr. Churchill, for the treatment of pulmonary phthisis. Recent trials made at the Brompton Consumption Hospital, an institution especially devoted to the treatment of diseases of the chest, have abundantly demonstrated the absolute necessity of obtaining this new therapeutic agent in the most perfectly pure and neutral condition. Each table-appondful of syrup contains four grains of perfectly pure hypophosphite of lime, and, as compounded by MM. Grimault and Co. of Paris, this syrup is the only preparation which quarantees to the medical profession all the properties required in this valuable medicine.

We particularly call the attention of the public to the following important teatimonial:—
