

FOI request to the Greater London Authority submitted on 6 July 2016

#7354

As they are now set to be sold without ever being used, I would like to know how much it has cost to store three water cannon at the Met's training facility in Gravesend. Presumably the Met has been paid to store them.

The Greater London Authority's response sent 19 July 2016

Thank you for your email of 6 July to the Greater London Authority in which you asked "As they are now set to be sold without ever being used, I would like to know how much it has cost to store three water cannon at the Met's training facility in Gravesend. Presumably the Met has been paid to store them"

The Mayor's Press office wrote to you last week to tell you that the annual cost of maintaining the three vehicles is £20,800 - or £6,960 each and that the cost of insuring them is £4,818 a year - £1,606 each.
