Exam Dashboard

If you have an individual Study Guide Package subscription or your institution has a subscription to the PsychiatryOnline Premium package, you have access to our Exam Dashboard, which allows the user to create custom Exams using Study Guide questions. Steps on how to access the Dashboard and its various features are below.

If you are an individual subscriber, please sign in to your PsychiatryOnline account and go to section on page 4 called "Accessing the Exam Dashboard Homepage".

If you have institutional access, a personal MyPOL account is required to access the Dashboard and store your Exam history. If you do not have a MyPOL account, you can create a MyPOL account by completing the following steps below. If you already have a MyPOL account, please login to your MyPOL account and go to section on page 4 called called "Accessing the Exam Dashboard". If you are an institutional administrator, please login using your administrator credentials and go the section on page 4 called to "Accessing the Exam Dashboard".

PLEASE NOTE: For institutional access, you will need to be authenticated to your institutional subscription and signed in to your MyPOL account in order to access.

If your institutional access is granted via one public username/password login, you will need to create a MyPOL account and pair your device to the institutional access using the steps below.
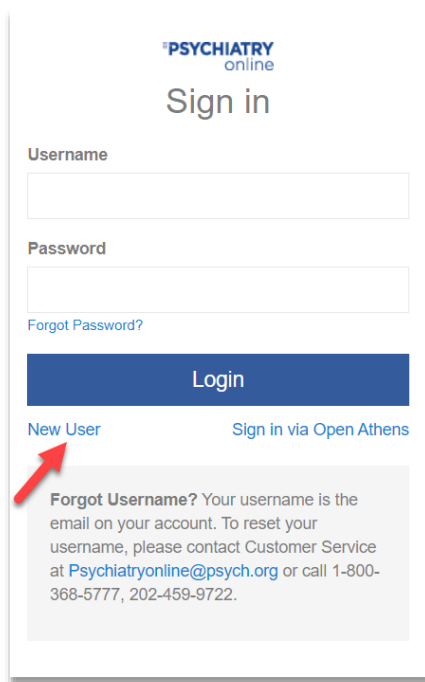

MyPOL Account Setup

You can create a MyPOL account by going to PsychiatryOnline.org and completing the following steps.

1. Select "Sign In" on the top right of the PsychiatryOnline site menu bar near the search bar.

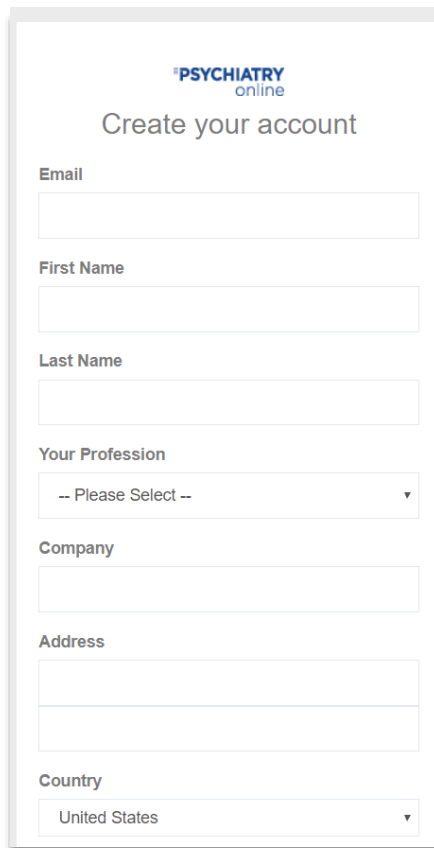

2. On the next screen select "New User".

3. On the next screen, fill out the New User Registration form. If you are accessing a subscription that is through your institution, use the email address with the institutional domain matching your institution (Example: user@yourinstitution.edu). Once this form is complete, hit "Create Customer".

How to create an exam:

Show me the correct answer

As soon as I submit my answer – the answer will appear at the bottom of the page after you have submitted your answer

On the summary page at the end of the exam – all the answers will appear on the summary page after you have completed the exam

3. Enter the number of questions you want the Exam to include in the available text box. As you select Exam features, you can view the total number of questions available based on your choices by selecting the "Calculate Now" button.

4. Hit "Start Exam" to create an Exam with the features you have chosen.

Taking an Exam

1. For each question, select the appropriate answer bubble. Hit "Submit Answer" to complete your answer.
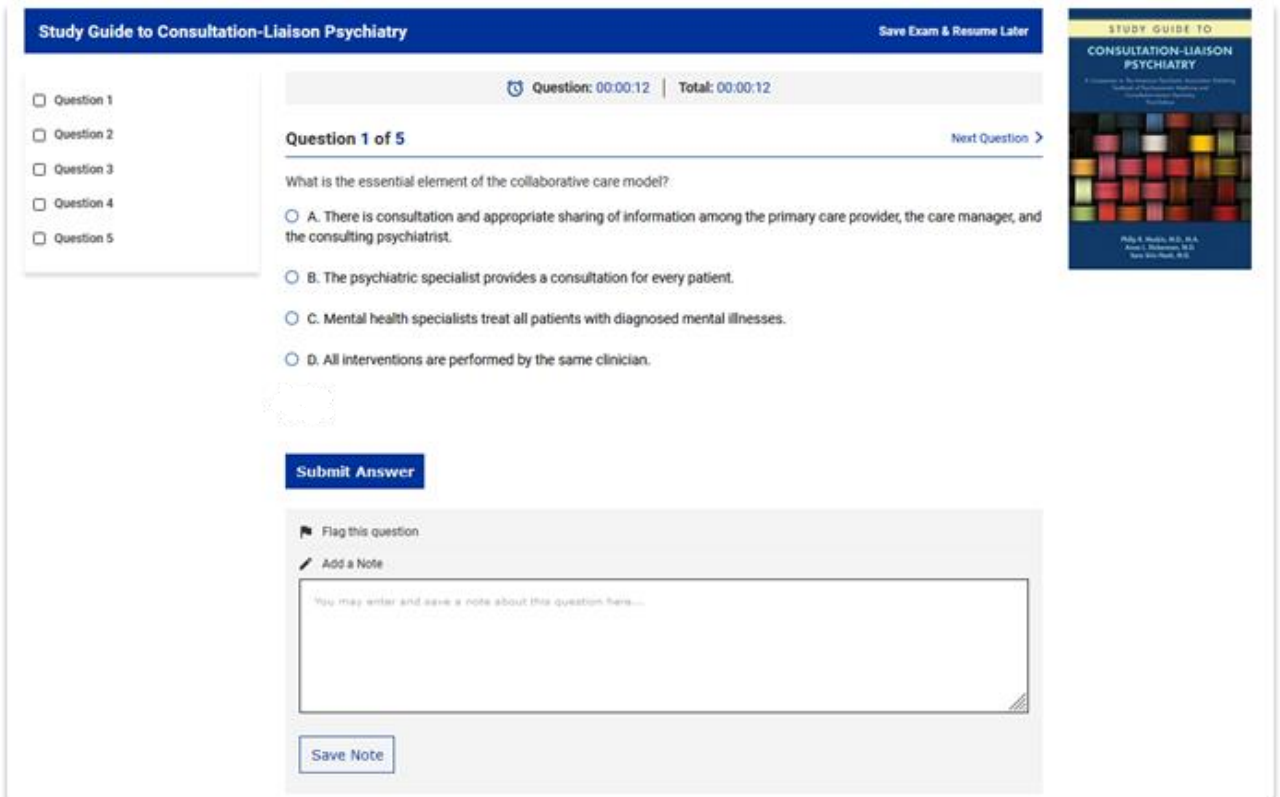

You can also jump to another question by selecting a different question number from the list on the left side of the screen or selecting "Next Question" or "Previous Question" on the right side of the screen.

You can flag a question by selecting "Flag this question". The Flag icon will now display for this question on the list of Exam questions on the lefthand side of the screen.

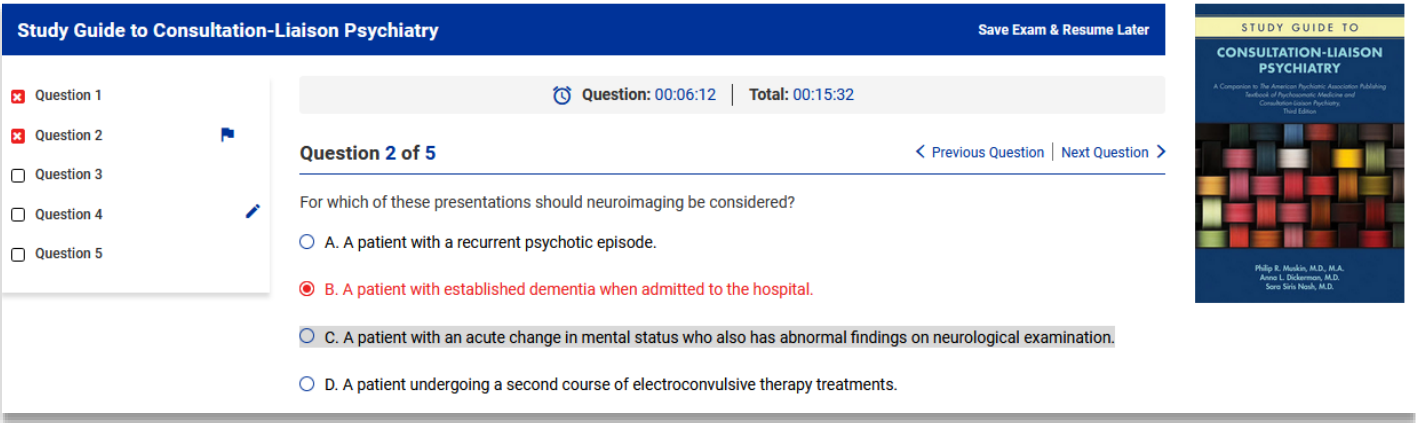

You may also enter a note by typing into the text box on the question page and hitting "Save Note". The Note icon will now display for this question on the list of Exam questions on the lefthand side of the screen.

Both the Flag and Note icons can be clicked to redirect you back to that question's page.

A timer for each question and for the entire Exam will display on each question page. Please note that this information is for your personal use only and there is no time limit for Exams.

At any time throughout the Exam you can save your progress and exit the Exam by selecting "Save Exam & Resume Later" on the top right. If this action is taken, you can resume the Exam by finding the Exam on the Exam Dashboard homepage under "My Exams List" section and selecting "Resume".

2. If you have chosen to see the results after every question, after each question is submitted you will see the question page reload with information on the answer selected, the correct answer and the correct answer explanation, as well as text reference. If you have chosen to see the correct answers at the end of the Exam, you will see this in the Exam results summary.

INCORRECT. The answer is C. (You answered B)

Explanation:

Dougherty and Rauch (2004) suggest that the following conditions and situations merit consideration of neuroimaging: new-onset psychosis (option A is incorrect), new-onset dementia (option B is incorrect), delirium of unknown cause prior to an initial course of electroconvulsive therapy (option D is incorrect), and an acute mental status change with an abnormal neurological examination in a patient with either a history of head trauma or an age of 50 years or older (option C is correct). Regardless of the modality, the consultant should read the radiologist's report because other physicians tend to dismiss all but acute focal findings and, as a result, misleadingly record the results of the study as normal in the chart. Psychiatrists recognize, however, that even small abnormalities (e.g., periventricular white matter changes) or chronic changes (e.g., cortical atrophy) have diagnostic and therapeutic implications.
