Bittrex, Inc. operates one of the leading cryptocurrency exchanges and is based in the United States. Safety and security for our customers using the exchange is a top priority for Bittrex, and Bittrex will enforce its rights in order to protect our customers and to keep the exchange secure.

Bittrex is a member of eBay's Verified Rights Owner (VeRO) program. We respect the intellectual property of others and enforce the proper use of our intellectual property. Our intellectual property includes copyrighted material, such as the images included on the Bittrex website at <Bittrex.com>. Our intellectual property also includes trademarks, such as the registered BITTREX mark, and the Bittrex logos and designs.

We have devoted a tremendous amount of energy, resources and attention to the goodwill of our loyal customers and to the protection of our trademarked brand name with the goal of providing a secure exchange. Our trademarks are so valuable and important because customers have come to associate our trademarks with the high quality of our services.

To the extent there are eBay listings for "Bittrex Accounts," which purport to be offers for sale of Bittrex trading accounts (i.e., verified and unverified accounts), we have not offered any such accounts for sale through eBay, nor have we or do we authorize or endorse any sales of such accounts. Sale or re-sale of Bittrex accounts on eBay by third parties violates Bittrex's Terms of Service, and use of the BITTREX trademark and copyrighted images in connection with offers to sell Bittrex accounts infringes on our intellectual property rights.

Federal law prohibits the unauthorized use of our intellectual property. Innocent intent or willful blindness does not negate liability for misuse of our intellectual property under U.S. copyright or trademark laws. We work to ensure that unauthorized uses of our intellectual property are removed from eBay. Because of the many listings at eBay, however, it is hard to discover and remove all unauthorized uses of our intellectual property. Simply because others misuse our intellectual property does not permit you to misuse our intellectual property.
