

Glenn's Auto Performance

Glenn's Auto Performance is the exclusive rights owner of any and all intellectual property appearing within their listings, online, or in association with their brand. This intellectual property is protected by U.S. and International copyright and trademark law. Under no circumstance does Glenn's Auto Performance authorize the reuse of any copyrighted or trademarked material. You may not link to, use, copy, or otherwise infringe on any photos, descriptions, policies, logos or proprietary designs appearing on our website or within our eBay listings. We take intellectual property right infringement extremely seriously and will pursue any and all violations to such rights that we become aware of. Any use of our intellectual property without our written consent is a violation of federal law and may lead to prosecution. We enforce these policies for the protection of our brand and for the protection of our consumers. Violations to these rights may create confusion amongst consumers and stands to potentially damage our brand integrity in the perception of our buyers.

To what information within our eBay listings does this extend to?

Intellectual property copyright extends to any and all photos, descriptions, formatting, logos, policies, wording, and product designs found within our eBay listings. This includes any original vendor photos, for which we are authorized dealers for, that have been modified, edited, or improved on in any way. Any re-use of these photos, even with modification, constitutes a violation of these rights. Our photos cannot be cropped, edited, or modified for reuse in any way without our written consent. In addition, intellectual property rights extend to the wording of the policies contained within our listings including: shipping, return, terms of service, and privacy policies. Our listing descriptions are uniquely generated and protected under intellectual property copyright law and are not authorized for copy or reuse, even with modification. Any text or information for which we are not the originator, and/or rights owner of but are authorized to reuse, will appear within quotes on our listings and will be credited to the originator. This information is the intellectual property of our vendor's and/or distributors and copy or reuse without their consent may constitute a violation of their rights as well.

If you believe that you have been delisted incorrectly, or have questions about compliance, please contact us at Glenn@GlennsAutoPerfromance.com.