

Lay-n-Go is an innovative organizational solution for life, play, and travel. We create patented toy play mats, cosmetic bags, tech bags, and government/military solutions. These products include the Lay-n-Go COSMO, Traveler, Wired, Lifestyle, Large, Lite, NailSpa, mini, and DEFENDER, among other items. We are committed to protecting the reputation of our brand and making sure our consumers receive an original Lay-n-Go instead of imitation products that are of inferior quality.

We hold three US PATENT numbers 9,084,459, 10,016,036, and 10,561,213 and do not willingly allow any potentially infringing products to be sold under any circumstances. Any unauthorized copying, production, or distribution of Lay-n-Go patented products may be reported for infringing and subject the seller to prosecution. These violations include the publishing of images or photographs of our patented products.

The protection of our product's reputation is of utmost importance to us so we monitor the internet, including eBay, on a daily basis in an attempt to keep all patent violators off of any sales sites.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs):

Q: Why was my auction ended?

A: Your auction was removed from eBay because we have a good faith belief that the merchandise you were offering for sale is counterfeit or otherwise infringes on Lay-n-Go's patent or you displayed unauthorized images of our products for sale.

Q: What if I did not realize that I was selling a Lay-n-Go patent infringing item?

A: It is the responsibility of the seller to ensure that you are not selling a product that violates Lay-n-Go's intellectual property. Lack of knowledge that you are infringing on our patent does not relieve you of your responsibility as an eBay seller.
