

Randomwalk LLC

Random Walk Trading was established to help individuals who desire to turn their passion in trading into a profession. Behind its products is a team of professional retired CBOE traders who work hard to come up with nothing less than the best educational materials. These products are easy to understand and cannot be found anywhere else.

It has come to our attention that there are a number of sellers who have been distributing unlawful copies of our copyrighted products in eBay. While, they say that imitation is the highest form of flattery; this recent finding did not flatter us at all.

We want to be fair to all. Our professional traders have spent sleepless nights and have skipped meals just to finish writing our materials. We do not want their efforts to be put to waste. Thus, we have decided to gear up and do everything we can to stop piracy.

We are continuously monitoring unauthorized sellers and listings online. We appeal to the public not to support or entertain offers that come from these sellers. Should you find any item in eBay which you think infringes our intellectual property rights, please feel free to contact us.
