The World Hockey Association is the rightful trademark holder of all of the names, word marks, logos, uniform designs, mascots, images, colors and color combinations, trade dress, characters, symbols, designs, likenesses and visual representations of World Hockey Association, LLC entities and is the owner of all proprietary notes thereof. The World Hockey Association is an Ontario (CANADA) based corporation as well as Nevada (in the United States). The League's website is www.worldhockeyassociation.net .

The WHA does not have any Licensee information on file for many EBAY shops and would advise sellers and buyers that if they are purchasing 3rd party items that are not Officially Licensed WHA products that they may be violating governing laws about trademark infringement.

Please get back to me at your earliest convenience by email with any questions. If you are purchasing items that are brand new and never been worn, our suggestion is to contact us by email and find out if the items you are purchasing are Officially Licensed WHA merchandise that has permission from former players to use their names and numbers for jerseys and/or other collectibles.

Respectfully,

Brant Feldman
