Figure 2: How your report makes medicines safer

Reporting suspected side effects helps: make medicines safer prevent future harm to patients safer prescribing and use of medicines improve patient safety and protect public health improve medicines information and education Reporting makes medicines safer